COMIT TRAINING SECTION

Republican House Leaders Win Demand on Compulsory Training

Washington, Feb. 26.—The demand of the Republican leaders in the House that a provision for universal military training should not be included in the army reorganization bill was complied with by the Military Affairs Committee yesterday.

The committee decided to report out the reorganization bill without training section. Separate legislation to establish this policy was left to a subcommittee of seven, to be appointed by Chairman Kahn with instructions to make a thorough investigation and report back to the full committee.

This action followed a statement by Chairman Kahn that he had a definite pledge from the Republican leaders that a rule for immediate consideration will be granted when ever the separate bill is reported out. He will name the subcommittee today or Friday, he announced last night, and hearings will be started "without any unnecessary delay."

PISTOL DUEL WITH NEGROES

Autoists Fleeing From Arrest Discharge Weapons at Officer Durrer

Early yesterday afternoon Policeman Durrer, traffic officer, while in his motorcycle on King street had his attention attracted to an automobile in which two negroes were seated. They were operating the machine at a high rate of speed, and the policeman started after them. The auto in which the negroes were seated being more powerful, kept ahead of Mr. Durrer, who followed them to the northwestern city limits so where he overtook the fugitives and ordered them to turn around and proceed to the station house. Instead however, of obeying his command the darkeys put on more power and proceeded to dash away into Alexandria county, and at the same time discharged pistols at the officer. Mr. Durrer drew his pistol and fired at the negroes, but they managed to escape. The negroes are known, as they reside in the county, and efforts will be made to have them arraigned in the Police Court of this city.

The original plan to ask the President to delay his signature of the bill until a brief could be prepared, embodying their objections, is understood to have been abandoned when it was learned the President had sent the measure to Attorney General Palmer for decision on its constitutionality.

ANNUAL FIGHT ON THE VOLSTEAD LAW

Wets to Concentrate at Every Session of Congress

FIRST EFFORT LOSES

Amendment to Legislative Executive and Judicial Appropriation Bill Declared in Order.

Washington, Feb. 26.—An annual fight to repeal the Volstead prohibition enforcement law was made certain yesterday when an amendment to the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill repealing the act was ruled in order.

That the amendment makes little difference to the wets. The significant feature of the situation is that if the decision of the chair yesterday is adhered to an amendment to repeal the act can be offered every time an appropriation enforcement is proposed.

Therefore should the light wines and beer advocates ever win a majority in congress the task of overturning the dry ban so far as to permit the manufacture and sale of those beverages will be a simple one Of course the constitutional amendment will stand until three fourths of the states act to the contrary but it is the Volstead law that fixes the alcoholic limit of beverages at one half of one per cent. With that out of the way the wet states could determine the alcoholic limit until the courts determine the question.

The amendment yesterday was offered by Representative Igoe, Democrat, of Missouri. It sought to eliminate an appropriation of four million five hundred thousand for enforcement of prohibition and insert in lieu thereof on repealing the Volstead law on July 1, 1920.

The amendment was defeated 98 to 99.

Attacking the Volstead act as "drastic and unreasonable," Mr. Igoe said "it had been volated to such an extent that if the law was strictly enforced there would be more of the adult population of the United States in jail than out of jail." He added there are ten million persons in the country who have in some way violated this law."

DRY DEPARTMENT'S FUNDS DECREASED

Appropriation Bill Passed in Virginia House Allows Only $25,000

TOTAL IS $22,413,480.70

Action Causes But Little Debate—Prohibitionists Say Efficiency of Law Will be Impaired.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 26.—Allowing only $25,000 for the expenses of the State prohibition department, the house of delegates Saturday afternoon passed the general appropriation bill, which exceeds the executive budget recommended by Gov. Davis for the two-year period by $326,804.

Leaders of liquor foes asserts that the inevitable effect of reducing the prohibition department's funds from $50,000 to $25,000 a year if concurred in by the senate, would be to utterly destroy the efficiency of liquor law regulations in Virginia.

The bill provides for appropriations in excess of $22,000,000 for all purposes for the two-year period.

Pruned down by $54,570 from the aggregate amount carried in the measure as it came from the committee the appropriations bill sets aside $22,413,480.70 to meet state expenses for the ensuing biennial period.

The house added to the bill twice and substracted from it the same number of times. "Dick" Blankenship veteran elevator conductor at the capital, was given a raise of $90 a year and the sum of $250 was set aside to pay the salary of the judge of the Thirty-second judicial circuit (Norfolk) for the month of February The subtractions consist of $25,000 a year for the department of prohibition and $2,500 a year for the police justice of the city of Norfolk.

The bill went through in record time and with remarkably little confusion.

An amendment offered by Delegate Norris, giving the commissioner of prohibition authority to use so much of $25,000 for the second year, in event his office is abolished during 1921, as would bear the proper proportion to the sum set aside for the entire year was adopted: Another sponsored by Delegate Gilpin, cutting down the appropriation for the second year to $15,000 was defeated by a vote of 60 to 24.

HON. R. W. MOORE'S FITTING TRIBUTE

Virginian Speaks at Anniversary of Washington's Birthday

QUOTES FROM LODGE

Endorses Eloquent Remarks on the Late Lawrence Washington by Mr. Monahan, of Wisconsin.

In the House of Representatives on Monday, the proceedings of which were in connection with the anniversary of Washington's birthday, Hon. R. Walton Moore, of the Eighth (Alexandria) Congressional District, said:

"Mr. Speaker, there are many in Virginia and elsewhere—his relatives and friends—who will be deeply grateful for the tribute to the late Mr. Lawrence Washington in the eloquent remarks of the gentleman from Wisconsin, Mr. Monahan.

"During the centuries in which it is traceable, there seems nearly always to have been a Lawrence in the Washington line.

"I recall on a perfect summer day visiting in Northamptonshire, which is the county of the Franklins as well as the Washingtons, the village of Little Brington. That was the home of a Lawrence Washington who was five generations back of his descendant of Mount Vernon. There, built flush with the highway and apparently not since altered, is the unpretentious house where that Washington took up his abode the very year the first Jamestown expedition set sail from London. There he lived a part of the very period in which, across the county line in Warwickshire, Shakespeare was weaving his genius into the plays and sonnets that are immortal. Not far from the house stands a stately, ancient church in the midst of a most beautiful country. It is the country where they tell us the Washingtons fought in the fierce civil struggles that from time to time swept over that portion of England. The scene of one of the battles of the War of the Roses is in view, and within a few miles is the memorable Field of Naseby. The day I was there, as far as the eye could reach the golden crops, in the peaceful sunshine, were ripening to the harvest.

"Lawrence Washington, the long-ago ancestor of General Washington, is buried in the aisle of the church. The verger removed the outer stone from above the grave, and on the marble slab beneath could be read the name and the dates. Carved upon the slab also are the arms of the Washington family, the escutcheon bearing stars and stripes. There are those who believe that in that device is found the origin of the American flag, the flag of our hearts and hopes, the flag that we trust will never cease to represent the liberties, the ideals, and the institutions the founder of the Republic did so much to establish. (Applause)

Mr. Speaker, as we commemorate now the mighty career of the Virginian, who is the greatest man in all the tide of time, it is not unfitting that the final eulogy of this hour should be the deliberate estimate of Washington expressed by an eminent citizen of your own State of Massachusetts, to which Washington was bound by so many impressive ties. I quote the concluding words of the brilliant biography of Washington in the American Statesmen Series by Senator Lodge:

"As I bring these volumes to a close I am conscious that they speak, so far as they speak at all, in a tone of almost unbroken praise of the great man they attempt to portrary. If this be so, it is because I could come to no other conclusions. For many years I have studied minutely the career of Washington, and with every step the greatness of the man, has grown upon me, for analysis has failed to discover the act of his life, which, under the conditions of the time, I could unhesitatingly pronounce to have been an error. Such has been my experience, and although my deductions may be wrong, they at least have been carefully and slowly made I see in Washington a great soldier who fought a trying war to a successful end impossible without him; a great statesman who did more than all other men to lay the foundation of a Republic which has endured in prosperity for more than a century. I find in him a marvelous judgment which was never at fault, a penetrating vision which beheld the fuutre of America, when it was dim to other eyes, a great intellectual force, a will of iron, an unyielding grasp of facts, and an unequaled strength of patriotic purpose. I see in him, too, a pure and high minded gentleman of dauntless courage and stainless honor, simple and stately of manner, kind and generous of heart. Such he was in truth. The historian and the biographer may fail to do him justice, but the instinct of mankind will not fail. The real hero needs not books to give him worshippers. George Washington will always receive the love and reverence of men because they see embodied in him the noblest possibilities of humanity."

STORY OF THE KNIFE

Monday last was observed as the anniversary of the birth of George Washington. Exercises in connection with the observation were held in the United States House of Representatives. Among the speakers was Mr. Monahan, of Wisconsin, who told of a pleasant visit he and other prominent in the nation made to Alexandria about a year ago to attend a reception tendered the returning soldiers of our city by Alexandria-Washington Lodge of Masons. In the course of his remarks Mr. Monahan said:

A delightful evening was spent, in which speech, song, and refreshments intermingled.

Washington's lodge room is filled with relics of the late Father of His Country, which the late Mr. Lawrence Washington took prideful delight in pointing out and explaining.

Among others, he called the assembly's attention to a small pearl handled knife and gave its history.

He said that when Washington was a boy he attempted to enlist in the British Navy without the knowledge of his mother, and had so far succeeded that his clothes had been taken aboard the ship upon which he was to sail.

His mother, learning what was about to be done, went on board the ship and secured his release, he being under age.

Washington, much grieved, showed great disappointment and his mother calling atetntion to his disobedient act and the great pain it had caused her, suddenly turned and presented him with this pearl handled knife, asking him to promise that when ever again tempted to do an act which he knew would not be approved by her, that he would take the knife from his pocket and think of her before deciding.

Washington took the knife and carried it until his death, more than half a century.

The winter he spent with his Army at Valley Forge the American cause was at its lowest ebb.

The American Armies had gone into winter quarters defeated.

There was hunger and privation and great physical suffering, not only in the Army but throughout the land, and the political enemies of the great general were urging that some man other than Washington be given command of the Armies.

Washington called a counsel of his generals, and in that dingy room told them the burden was more than he could bear, and communicated to them his intention to resign as commander in chief.

One of the officers, surmising that this might happen, just prior to the meeting being called to order borrowed from Washington the knife.

When Washington had finished speaking an intense silence reigned, and finally this officer arose, and with tears in his eyes, after recounting the story of the knife, said, in effect:

"Gen. Washington, your mother has passed into the great unknown, but her spirit is here tonight.

"Your countrymen have selected you to lead the struggling hosts of liberty in this war for existence.

"Be as true to them as you were to the mother who gave you birth, and, thus," extending his hand, holding the knife, "obey the orders of your struggling countrymen as you did the request of your sainted mother and fight on."

Washington's eyes moved slowly from one to another of the men gathered at that counsel of war, yet it was evident he did not see them.

His face was tense and white and his eyes had a faraway look as if thinking of some one who was not present.

He was undergoing the acid test. For a short time he thus stood, then his features began to relax.

Without a word he reached out his hand, took the knife, put it back in his pocket, and Yorktown followed Valley Forge.

U. S. INCOME TAX EXEMPTS NOBODY

Every Person Who Had Income in 1919 Must Determine Own Liability.

MARCH 15 LAST FILING DATE.

Surest Way Is to Follow Form 1040A. Free Advice in Doubtful Cases. Severe Penalties in Law.

Nobody is exempt from Income Tax. An obligation is laid directly on the shoulders of each citizen and resident to consider his own case and to get his return in on time if one is due.

With each return showing a tax due a payment must accompany the return in the full amount of the tax or at least one-quarter of the tax.

All returns for 1919 must be filed on or before March 15.

Must Show True Figures.

In figuring up his earnings for income tax purposes a person must take into consideration all items of taxable income, and each item itself must be accurate in amount. Guesses and estimates must be avoided, for the return is made under oath.

Everybody who had an income during 1919 must now determine whether his or her net income was sufficient in amount to require an Income Tax return. The best way to find out is to get a Form 1040A and follow the instructions printed on it. That form will serve as a reminder of every item of income; and if a return is due, it tells how to prepare and file it.

One of the important points to keep in mind is that a person's net income is found by a computation prescribed in the law, and that each item of income from every source must be considered, unless specifically exempted.

Another thing to remember is that the personal exemption allowed taxpayers by law has no relation whatever to the requirement to file return. This exemption is not to be considered until a person has figured out his net income and determined whether it was sufficient to require him to file a return. Then, if a return must be filed, he should read carefully the instructions for claiming exemption, and complete his return.

If in doubt on any point as to income or deductions, a person may secure free advice and aid from the nearest Internal Revenue office. Many banks and trust companies are also furnishing similar service during banking hours.

Heavy Penalties in Law.

For failing to make a return on time the penalty is a fine of not more than $1,000 and an addition of 25 per cent to the tax, if any. For making a false or fraudulent return the penalty is a fine of not more than $10,000 or imprisonment not exceeding one year, or both; and, in addition, 50 per cent of the tax. There are other penalties for failing to pay tax when due and for understatement of the tax through negligence.

Many Sources of Income.

Aside from what one may earn by his services, there are many other sources of income. If he sold any property during 1919 he must figure out the gain realized. If he rented buildings, land, apartments or rooms such rents must be considered taxable, and he may claim deductions for necessary expenses incidental to rents.

Bank interest is a common source of income and is taxable whether withdrawn or not. Any amount of interest credited to a depositor is income to the depositor.

Interest on mortgages and notes is taxable; also bond interest received from corporations.

A taxpayer who cashed his insurance during 1919 must report as income any excess received over the total of premiums paid.

Members of partnerships or personal service corporations or beneficiaries of an estate or trust must report their shares of income distributable to them whether or not actually withdrawn.

Dividends of domestic corporations must be reported. Many other forms of income are taxable, unless specifically exempted.

INCOME TAX IS DUE MARCH 15

Penalties for Delay and Failure to Make Returns—Early Compliance Urged.

All income tax returns covering the year 1919 must be filed by Monday, March 15. Each taxable return must be accompanied by check or money order for the full amount or at least one-quarter of the amount of tax due.

Cash payments are accepted only at the collector's main office; if sent by mail, they are at the sender's risk.

Virginians should send returns and payments to R. C. L. Moncure, Collector of Internal Revenue, Richmond, or J. S. Persinger, Collector of Internal Revenue, Roanoke.

Those who must file returns but have not done so are warned that the revenue law imposes heavy penalties for failure to get returns in on time or to make payments on time.

Early filing and early payments are urged, in order to relieve the internal revenue offices as much as possible of an overload on the last day, March 15.

COL. R. E. WYLLIE

Col. R. E. Wyllie, general staff, U. S. A., is responsible for the designs of all way department equipment, from a "housewife" to a 16-inch gun. Thousands of articles which the department makes or purchases are approved by him before they are available for use.

Writing on Bottles.

The following is a published formula for making a waterproof ink for writing on bottles. It is practically a solution of shellac with coloring matter added. Take brown shellac, 60 parts; methylated spirits, 150 parts; borax, 35 parts; water, 250 parts; methyl violet, 1 part. The shellac should first be dissolved in the spirit, and the borax should be dissolved separately in the water. The shellac solution should then be warmed (by placing the bottle in hot water), and added gradually to the borax solution, the mixture being rapidly stirred meanwhile. The dye is added last.

On Loving.

Without distinction, without calculation, without procrastination, love. Lavish it upon the poor, where it is very easy; especially upon the rich who often need it most; most of all upon our equals, where it is very difficult, and for whom perhaps we do least of all.—Henry Drummond.

Wireless Phone Not Bulky.

The wireless telephone of Dr. Lee De Forest is not a bulky apparatus. It might be set upon a table at one's elbow and connected to the electric light circuit. Conversations may be carried on with any similar instrument within a radius of 25 miles. Sound wave adjusters prevent anyone else but the "right number" from listening in. The device is so simple, the inventor says, that a child can operate it.

Two Things to Explain.

The trophy for absent-mindedness goes to Harold. He took his fiancee to the picture show house the other night and left her standing in the lobby while he went to the ticket window.

"One ticket, please," he said. A little later, when the girl trailed him through the entrance, the doorman asked him how he had expected to do it.

"But I had a harder time explaining to the girl that she really was an important item in the evening's program."

Lively Movement of Freight Cars.

The world's record for car movement is claimed by Columbia, Pa., where 9,531 cars passed in a single day. In one month 230,000 freight cars passed Columbia, or an average of six cars per minute.

Thought She Had Moved.

Mrs. Clancey was a very sarcastic woman, and it was probably due to this fact that she had a falling out with her friend, Mrs. Murphy, who lived in the apartment just under her.

One day, while Mrs. Clancey was feeling particularly mean, she looked down from her window and saw Mrs. Murphy also enjoying the scenery. She could not resist the temptation to take a shot at her.

"Oi say, Murphy," she called down in deep sarcasm, "why don't ye take your ugly ould mug out iv the windy and put your pet monkey in its place? That'd give the neighbors a change they'd like."

Mrs. Murphy looked up.

"Well, now, Mrs. Clancey," she slowly said, "it was only this marnin' that I did that very thing, an' the polege man came along, an' whin he saw the monkey he bowed and smiled and said: 'Why, Mrs. Clancey, whin did ye move downstairs?'"

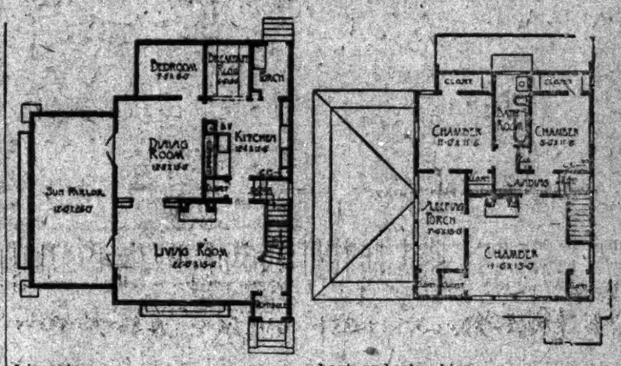
A STRICTLY UP-TO-DATE HOUSE

DESIGNED BY CHAS. S. SEDGWICK, ARCHITECT

THIS "Up-to-Date" house is 27 feet in width and 40 feet in depth of the main part, a large sun-parlor added on the left giving a total frontage of 39 feet. The construction is substantial frame with cement stucco on the outside, roof shingled and stained. All outside trimmings painted a soft cream color, with the roofs stained a moss green with creosote stain. It is called "Up-to-Date" from the fact that it is very complete with every modern improvement for a convenient home.

The rooms are of good size with the most popular large living room, fireplace, etc., and the added feature of a large sun room on the left 12 ft. x 26 ft. connected with both living room and dining room with wide glazed French doors. There is a large recessed china-cupboard connected with the dining room and also with kitchen. In the rear is a small bed room and a breakfast room well located and much appreciated by the house wife. The kitchen has a dumb waiter and a clothes chute, also pantry cupboards, broom closet and rear porch glazed in with space for refrigerator.



The second story has three bed rooms and in the main large front bed room is a fireplace. A couple closets are provided. There is a large well fitted bath room. Attic space may be used for storage. There is a full and complete basement. The finish and floors are hardwood. The estimated cost is from $6,000 to $7,500, exclusive of heat and plumbing.

On the second floor is a sleeping porch opening from the front chamber. The first story finish is in oak with oak floor and the second story finish in birch with white enamel and doors mahoganized. This makes a very complete home and well suited to any locality. The arrangement of rooms is best suited to a south or west frontage.

VIRGINIA NEWS

With the death in Staunton yesterday of Edward Alexander, of Staunton, two fatalities have resulted from the fire which early Tuesday morning partially destroyed the Beverly Hotel. The other victim was Mrs. Louis C. Davidson, 45, of Staunton, who succumbed yesterday morning. Five other men, who were badly injured were reported last night at hospitals to be recovering.

By an overwhelming majority the citizens of Norfolk, in a special election called for the purpose, voted for a bond issue of six million dollars for the construction of a modern water system and the purchase of a water shed. The vote was 6 to 1 in favor of the bond issue.

Approximately 200 doctors in Virginia have applied to the Federal prohibition director for Virginia for permits to purchase alcohol, and 628 druggists for permits to sell alcohol. Fewer doctors made application than was expected, although no bond is required for the purchase and prescribing of whisky in the State. Warnings have been issued, however, against the prescribing of alcohol without having filled the prescribed blanks. Heavy penalties are prescribed for violations.

Mrs. B. B. Munford, president of the Cooperative Education Association of Virginia and Mrs. Randolph Maynard, chairman of the Richmond district of the association, will attend the meeting of District "H," composed of the city of Alexandria and the counties of Alexandria, Culpeper, Fairfax, Fauquier, Prince William and Rappahannock, at Manassas tomorrow and Friday.

Fire supposed to have been caused by an overheated stove destroyed the home of Lemuel P. Johnson at Trone, near Winchester, Tuesday night, causing a property loss of $3,000. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson leaped in their night clothes through a second story window, all other avenues of escape being cut off by fire and smoke. They lost nearly all their belongings, including antique furniture that had been in the Johnson family six generations.

Capt. George W. Hobbs, a Confederate veteran and one of the best known of Norfolk's inland waterway pilots, was struck by a motor truck in Norfolk Tuesday and died before reaching the hospital. The driver of the machine made his escape before his identity could be ascertained. Captain Hobbs, who was 82 years of age, served in the Confederate Navy, taking part in the battle between the Monitor and the Merrimac.

A movement is being started in Lynchburg to send a delegation from that city to the State Democratic Convention in Roanoke, May 19, instructed to vote for Senator Carter Glass for the Democratic nomination for President, at San Francisco, as well as to start a State boom for him.

"In an identical telegram sent to both houses of the legislature and the lieutenant governor the President said:

"May I not take the liberty of expressing my earnest hope that Oklahoma will join the other suffrage States in ratifying the Federal suffrage amendment, thus demonstrating anew its sense of justice and retaining its place as a leader in democracy?"

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 26.—Edward Arnold, arrested, charged among other things with violating the prohibition act by having whisky in his possession, to wit: a half pint, was yesterday dismissed in police court. Magistrate Gough said he was told by the internal revenue officer that the law in reference to such petty violations as that of Arnold would not be enforced.

REFUSES TO REPEAL DRY LAW

House Votes $4,500,000 to Enforce It

Washington, Feb. 26.—Another movement for repeal of the prohibition enforcement act was defeated yesterday in the House. It was launched by Representative Igoe, Democrat, Missouri, who offered an amendment to the pending legislative appropriation bill striking out the $4,500,000 fund for enforcement of the act and proposing as a substitute that the act be repealed on July 1.

A point of order against the amendment by Representative Blanton, Democrat, Texas, was overruled, but the amendment was lost on a roll call, 38 to 89.

ELECTRIC PLANS AND SPECIFICATIONS

Should always be submitted to an expert, and when they are to be put into effect the supplies should be ordered from a first class house only, whether they call for a small motor or a complete equipment. We think we can claim to be such a concern.

They say "fine feathers make fine birds."
There's lots of wisdom in these words, suggests Dainty Dorothy.

Clothes wisdom means clothing thriftiness these days. Even if papa's from Pittsburgh he has cast a stern and forbidding eye in the direction of clothes extravagance. He is having his old suits cleaned and pressed, and found out that some of them didn't show a trace of wear. And he is asking mamma and daughter to fall in line and keep step.
